Why Host
A Virtual
'Let's Get
TEAgether'?

Now more than ever it's so important to keep in touch with each other, and what better way than to host a virtual tea party with friends and family and be TEAgether!

With most of us at home, it's important to keep in touch with loved ones, friends and colleagues. So we're asking people to make time each day (or whenever you can) to maintain those all important connections and donate the price of your normal cuppa.

£3 could pay for tea or coffee for up to 30 families a day.

£5 could provide biscuits or nutricious snacks for families to enjoy.

£10 could provide arts and craft materials for a family to use and relax.

£25 could provide one nights accommodation for a family

How To Host a virtual 'Let's Get TEAgether'

- Set a date and time for your Get TEAgether
- Put a reminder out by message or set an event up on Facebook with a link to your fundraising page and information on how your guests can join in.
- Make sure you have some delicious treats to eat whilst you're having your TEAgether
- Ask people to donate what they'd expect to pay for a hot drink and cake
- Use a video calling app such as Skype or Zoom and have tea and cake together.
- You could even play games such as "Guess how many sprinkles on the cake" or "guess the weight of the cake" and ask people to donate to play

Some Fun Ideas To Get You Started!

Let's Break TEAgether

Everyone loves a tea break and slice of cake to get them through their day at home. By organising a virtual 'Let's Break TEAgether' gives your family or work colleagues a chance to reconnect and a fresh brew while raising awareness for the Charity.

CreativiTEA

If crafts are what you love to do get your friends together and get creative virtually with a CreativiTEA. Drink Tea, chat, and get crafting! Why not hold a virtual craft fair to sell your masterpieces and raise funds for the Charity?

G&T'gether

If Tea doesn't quite hit the spot and something a little stronger is more your style, serve up a G&T or a cocktail of your choice in teacups and host a virtual parTEA using a multi video call.

Ronald McDonald House Charities UK is the leading independent charity dedicated to providing accommodation at specialist children's hospitals so that families can be near while their child is being treated in hospital.

Each and every day we offer almost 500 families a place to stay they can call home and be just a short step away from their child's ward.
